

ERDMAN

A COGDELL SPENCER COMPANY

Affinity Experience

“Erdman purchased Affinity to provide a thorough, consistent, systematic approach to programming, creation of a central location/database of programming information, enhance our ability to provide conceptual programming, and provide standardized output to improve design efficiency.”

About Erdman, A Cogdell Spencer Company

Erdman has been advancing healthcare environments for more than 50 years. As an integrated provider, the company offers service from facility conception to completion, including planning, developing, designing, and building. Headquartered in Madison, Wisconsin, with seven regional offices, Erdman has partnered with healthcare providers to deliver more than 5,000 facilities across the U.S. In March 2008, Cogdell Spencer Inc. acquired Erdman, creating the most integrated healthcare facilities company in the nation.
