

Affinity Experience

"Linbeck is a 400M US Dollar construction management and design/build firm founded on a well-defined program management process called TeamBuild(R). The flexibility of Trelligence Affinity allows us to implement TeamBuild using software that increases the speed and efficiency of our collaboration with clients and design professionals. All vested parties can participate in defining the project and its cost, backed by an intelligent system that automatically tracks design deviations from project constraints. I believe Trelligence will be a major influence in bridging the gap between design and construction, improving the way AEC teams work in the world."
